THE GLENDALE NEWS

DEVOTED TO THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

VOL. VI. GLENDALE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1911 No. 49

CITY TRUSTEES

All members present. The usual list of demands presented, principally in small amounts, the largest being $275.93 for supplies for electric light department. Mr. Anderson offered a lengthy resolution covering the question of the count of the votes cast at the recent annexation election to the effect that the board proceed to canvass said returns, the motion was seconded by Mr. Coker and carried. The votes were then counted and the result declared as follows: Total number of ballots cast outside the city, 154, of which 99 were in favor of annexation and 55 against, a majority in favor of annexation being 44. The whole number of ballots cast within the city was 166, of which 163 were in favor of and 3 against, the majority being 160. Mr. Anderson thereupon offered a resolution directing that the result of said annexation election be forwarded to the secretary of state with a copy of the record, seconded by Mr. Coker and adopted.

A petition was received from the W. C. T. U. petitioning the board to enforce Ordinance No. 65, regulating the sale of intoxicants, referred to the committee of the whole. The police and sanitary committee in conjunction with the marshal were authorized to employ an additional night watchman for two weeks. The city attorney was authorized to have deeds to lots 19-20, block 10, and lots 19-20-21, block 59, Glendale, placed in escrow.

An application from E. D. Reynolds to do street work by private contract on a portion of Louise street, was granted. Mr. Petersen was given permit to cut down certain pepper trees on Adams street. A communication was received from the building inspector giving estimate of cost on partitions to be placed in city hall. He was instructed to have a space partitioned off for use of the city clerk at cost not to exceed $15.00. The clerk was instructed to secure information from other cities in regard to plans for a city hall. The heads of the different city departments were instructed to send in estimates as to their requirements for space in the new city hall. The clerk was instructed to send for application blanks in reference to donation for Carnegie library.

VALLEY IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION MEETS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Improvement Association took place last Tuesday evening at K. of P. hall. There was the usual large attendance. The most of the evening was devoted to the excellent program but two or three matters of business were attended to. Dr. Jessie A. Russell presented to the association the plan for a "Clean-up" day to be held on Saturday, April 15th to be known as the "Glendale City Beautiful Day," and by resolution the association adopted that date for the purpose suggested.

A resolution was adopted urging upon the supervisors the necessity existing for a bridge of permanent character on Brand boulevard near Arden avenue at the "Wash" and a committee consisting of J. C. Sherer, I. A. Russell and O. A. Lane, was appointed to see Supervisor Pridham in regard to the matter.

All of the entertainment programs offered by the association are good, but the last was by general admission the best. Every member was encored and all were so excellent that discrimination is impossible. It was as follows:

Piano solo.....Mr. Herbert Henning
Vocal solo.....Miss E. M. Hitchcock
Accompanist, Kathleen Dodge.
Violin solo.....Miss Rachel McClure
Accompanist, Miss Helen Morgan.
Vocal solo.....Mr. A. R. Taylor
Accompanist, Mrs. Taylor.
Recitation.....Miss Mildred McKee
Cornet solo.....Mrs. O. A. Welling
Accompanist, Mr. Herbert Henning.
Duet, "Oh that We Two Were Maying"
Miss Vera McKee; Mr. A. R. Taylor
Miss Belle McKee, Accompanist
Vocal solo.....Miss Pearl Harrison
Accompanist, Mrs. A. R. Taylor

BASEBALL NOTES.

The Verdugo Park diamond Sunday was the scene of an especially interesting game which was called between our Verdugo team and the Joy Stars of Los Angeles.

The excitement began when the visiting team scored two runs in the first inning. After that, first one side and then the other would be in the lead. The score was a tie three times during the eleven innings which were played. At the close of the eleventh inning time was called on account of darkness with the score standing nine to nine.

Next Sunday at 2:30 a second game will be called between the teams, and it remains to be seen which will be victorious.

In the previous game Guy Buttrick was knocked out by an accident to his knee and was unable to take part in last Sunday's game.

Mr. G. F. Dewing of Third and Verdugo road, met with a painful accident a week ago when he was knocked down by the horse he was leading and broke his shoulder. As Mr. Dewing is over 80 years old, the injury is more serious than it would be to a younger person, but he is getting along well.

IS IT A CRIMINAL INVASION?

One Robbery During the Week—Suspicious Characters Numerous

That advertising is a good thing no one will deny who has any interest in a newspaper, but it must be admitted that it has possibilities of undesirable results. For instance, the fact that we are becoming better known to the world at large day by day, brings to us not only the desirable but a small proportion of the undesirables in the way of visitors. Just at this season of the year there is an exodus from Los Angeles of the "Yegmen" and the less vicious of the tramp class, and the former appear to make it a rule not to get away empty handed if they can help it. As a result they not only are particularly active within the city, but make frequent forays into near-by towns, and it is very evident that they now have Glendale on their list of promising fields to work. So apparent has this become to our authorities that the city trustees at their meeting Monday evening authorized the appointment of an additional night watchman to assist Officer Everett in patrolling the town, and Mr. Wardell was appointed to fill the position. The events leading up to this were as follows: On Friday night of last week (Saturday, to be accurate) Wright's Jewelry Store in the Watson block near Glendale avenue on Fourth street, was robbed of about a dozen watches which the proprietor had left in trays in the show window. It was a quarter to one o'clock in the morning that Mrs. Linn, wife of the restaurant keeper, and Elijah Zerr, who rooms near by, heard the crash of broken glass and both looking out saw a man strolling by in so leisurely a manner that they did not notice him seriously and the matter seems not to have been investigated further at the time. Some time afterwards Officer Everett, who was at the boulevard when the affair occurred, discovered that a hole had been broken in the plate glass window through which an arm had apparently reached and abstracted the watches. During the following day the case of one of the watches was picked up near the Sixth street school, where it had been dropped after the works were taken out. Several clues were run down without success and there are some circumstances connected with the case which make it rather mysterious, the officers being of the opinion that it was not the work of a professional.

Saturday night Harry Valliant, who runs the barber shop on Brand boulevard, after going to his rooming place on Fourth street, was surprised by a man attempting to enter the premises from the rear; Valliant hurried into his room and secured a revolver, getting back just in time to catch a last glance of the intruder's disappearing form; he took a wild shot at him without result.

Sunday night Officer Everett was called to the neighborhood of Third and Belmont by a woman who reported suspicious characters lurking around her house. They proved to be three men, one unusually tall and two smaller ones. They were seen by several persons and led the officer a merry chase, but the night was unusually dark and they escaped. Almost every night the officer has shadowed suspicious characters and kept them on the move, but aside from the instances named their actions were merely suspicious. It is hoped that the addition to our limited police force and the intelligent co-operation of citizens will keep this vicious element from committing any depredations.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Of first interest in the events of the school is the oratorical contest now in progress. The entries include Dwight Stevenson, Alexander Badger, Emily Ellias and Granville McClure, of the twelfth year; Marie Kirk, Marie Schwarge, Tirzah Snell, Ruth Pierce and Harold Story, of the eleventh year; Ida Wright, Blanche Lyons, Elizabeth Burket and Alma Turner, of the tenth year; and Blythe Monroe, Jennie Boring and Hazel Royce, of the ninth year.

Mr. Moyne spent Tuesday visiting the Manual Arts High School.

The library has to its credit a new Standard Dictionary.

W. D. Root, principal of the Newman High School, was a visitor at Glendale High School on Thursday.

The third quarter reports will be out next Friday.

CIVICS PROGRAM.

On Tuesday afternoon ane of the best programs of the year was rendered for the Tuesday Afternoon Club under the patronage of the Civics committee, of which Dr. Jessie Russell is chairman.

The program consisted of a very bright and interesting address on civics given by Miss Bertha Moore of Pasadena, chairman of civics of the State Federation of Clubs, who handled her subject in a way betoking thorough familiarity with its every phase.

Aside from this several numbers were rendered by the High School Trio, which is always received with much pleasure, and Mrs. Thomas Catherwood of Los Angeles won the hearts of her audience with four beautiful spring songs.

The afternoon closed with a few remarks made by Mrs. Austin Palmer, a prominent New York club woman. Mrs. Palmer was asked by Dr. Russell to give a few statements regarding New York club work which she did, terminating her speech by telling of the high regard in which Mrs. Mary H. Gridley, the Tuesday Afternoon Club's president, is held by her numerous associates in club work in that city and relating many incidents showing how truly she was beloved and appreciated, which would otherwise never have been known.

Filger's hall was beautifully and seasonably decorated by showers of golden acacia bloom which transformed it into a spring-like bower.

MID-MAY FESTIVAL PROGRESS.

An important meeting of the several chairmen of the committees in charge of the arrangements of the Mid-May Festival, to be held in Glendale on the 13th of May, under the auspices of the Glendale Valley Improvement Association, was held at Mr. F. L. Muhleman's residence Wednesday evening. Preliminary arrangements were made for holding an entertainment which will eclipse anything of the kind ever held in the valley. Many new and special features have been arranged for. The committee on entertainment have secured, among other features, several genuine cowpunchers from Wyoming, who will guarantee to ride anything that wears hair, and the committee promises to have several genuine wild bronchos on hand for their special edification.

The barbecue will be managed by Mr. R. G. Doyle, of Los Angeles, and to those who have known of Mr. Doyle's work in the past this is sufficient guarantee that the barbecue will be properly handled.

Ball games, dancing, etc., will be held at Verdugo Park, the barbecue will be given on the vacant property south of the Sanitarium, and the races, games and athletic contests near the barbecue.

Prominent speakers have been secured for the occasion.

The music for the day in Glendale, as well as the dancing at the Park, will be furnished by the Glendale Band.

ANOTHER ELECTION.

Friday of next week the grammar school districts of the state vote for school trustees. In Glendale grammar school district, two trustees are to be elected, and the probability is that the election will be the liveliest that we have had in this section for at least two weeks. Usually the office of school trustees goes to some good natured citizen who does not want it but lacks the courage to say so. This is not as it should be, of course, for it is an important position and ought to be filled by persons of ability and patriotism. Some day a reformer will get a law passed that school trustees shall be paid a salary and then we can be better assured that they will take the time required for the satisfactory performance of their duties.

However, this year there is not the usual coyness exhibited by our citizens and the number of willing candidates is larger than usual. Messrs. Blackburn and Meeker are the retiring members of the board and both are willing to retain their positions if the voters express a desire to that effect. Other candidates are Dr. Jessie A. Russell and Mr. Wilmot Parcher.

The voting will be during the afternoon at the Fourth street schoolhouse.

RAILROAD TO BURBANK.

Mr. Paul Shoup of the Pacific Electric Co., is quoted as saying in reference to the proposed electric line to Burbank:

"The project has been approved and we have the money and the authority to build the line," said Mr. Shoup last night. "We are awaiting only one or two small details which are being taken care of by the residents of Burbank, and which pertain to right of way, before beginning construction."

RAILROAD EXTENSIONS PROBABLE

Glendale-Eagle Rock Line Probably Goes to Monte Vista—Extension from Brand Boulevard to Griffith Park Planned

By ALBERT MARPLE

Papers were signed this week which promise the early extension of the Glendale-Eagle Rock railroad from its present terminus in Verdugo Park north to La Crescenta and Sunland. The residents of these towns who have for the past several years been trying to bring the trolley to their valley and by that means open that beautiful section to the tourists as well as the residents of Southern California, are rejoicing over the fact that the clouds are finally moving away and the sky of the future is becoming clear and promising.

E. D. Goode, the original promoter of the Glendale-Eagle Rock line, and the man who has done so much for this valley in the way of railroad building, completed arrangements this week with M. V. Hartrauft, C. H. Jones and Robert A. Walton, which will be instrumental in effecting this extension at an early date. The conditions of the transfer of the control of the road are based on the future actions of the citizens of Crescenta and Sunland. If the citizens of these towns band together to raise the bonus money, and if those living along the proposed route donate a small portion of their land toward the right of way, there is no reason why inside of a year and possibly during the present year these naturally beautiful sections should not be connected with the outside world by electric road. As in every section of California where the electric railroad has gone and will go, it is up to the people of these towns. The management of the Glendale-Eagle Rock road is exceedingly moderate in its demand for bonus and the residents of the northern country will probably realize this and take advantage of it.

The Monte Vista project, whereby about 3000 acres has been subdivided, by the Western Empire Magazine company, has already agreed to stand its portion of the costs. It now remains for Crescenta and Sunland to do their part.

The Glendale-Eagle Rock line is now five and a half miles in length, and it will be necessary to construct about seven miles more to reach Monte Vista, and the company promises to commence work on the extension within thirty days after the residents of the sections to be benefited have fulfilled the conditions above named. The Glendale-Eagle Rock line has been in operation two years, and during that time it has not known a single serious accident. A fact which is of much credit to the management of the line is that during the recent rains the cars, which are operated on a thirty-minute schedule, did not miss a single trip. After the proposed extension takes place, as at the present time, Ray E. Goode, son of E. D. Goode, will be retained as local manager.

Mr. Goode is now negotiating with the people of West Glendale for rights of way and a bonus for the purpose of constructing an electric line from the corner of Fourth street and Brand boulevard, through the Glendale valley view tract to Griffith Park.

ANOTHER WATER COMPANY ON THE EAST SIDE.

Six-inch water pipe supposed to belong to the Consolidated Company has been distributed along Verdugo road from the canyon southward to Sixth street where it goes eastward towards Eagle Rock. Whether it is proposed to go as far as the latter place or not is unknown, but the probability is that this company is aiming to secure a portion of the patronage of the people in the eastern part of Glendale and reach the several tracts that have recently been subdivided.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Two Glendale boys, Clarence Walton and Richard Stine, went north last week to participate in the athletic events at Berkeley, both being representatives of the University of Southern California. In the 220-yard hurdle race, Stine came out second, but the winner, Benson, led him by only a few inches. Walton also took second place in the 880-yard run which was won by Dowd.

IMPORTANT SESSION OF "D. D. BUNCH."

The meeting, which was in charge of the educational committee, was held last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Tower in the southern part of the Jewel City. Mrs. Tower had prepared a very pleasing report which was served to the assembled guests at 6:45. Immediately following the serving there ensued a season of partaking which lasted for about two hours. As usual the dishes and part of the silverware remained. The club then plunged into the discussion of many weighty educational problems confronting the state and city. Solutions were provided for most of them, (theoretically), some remained unsolved. The greatest excitement prevailed when a member of the school board who was present was called on for a declaration of principles. At first he declined to say anything for publication, but finally gave out the following signed statement, "I am in favor of teaching both reading and writing in our schools." (Great applause.) The usual play time followed and at the end of the session some were down in the pit, sympathy forbids our mentioning them, and some were up the ladder, these I will not mention lest they become puffed up.

Because the vibrator of our soloist refused to work it was necessary for us to dispense with the usual musical seance. At a late hour the bunch wrapped their cloaks about them and disappeared in the darkness to assemble again in Eagle Rock.

P. E. O.

Never a day dawned brighter than on Friday, March 24th, when every member of Chapter L gathered at the home of Josephine Bryant, to receive into the sisterhood five new members. Mrs. Edward Emery, Mrs. John Pirtle, Mrs. A. W. Tower, Mrs. E. D. Goode, Mrs. R. A. Blackburn.

In all the rooms a profusion of yellow and white flowers, the colors of P. E. O., nodded their welcome. At the hour appointed, the work began, three taking the vows of the sisterhood. Then followed a delicious buffet luncheon, served in the spacious dining room. Mrs. May Chase and Miss Ruth Byram presided at the daintily decorated table.

The luncheon was such as P. E. O.'s know how to serve, and feasting and merriment vied with each other.

At 2 o'clock the president again called to order, and the work of initiating was finished.

When the time to say good-bye came, all departed feeling it was a day never to be forgotten.

The guests of the day were Mrs. Furgeson and Mrs. Edna McGee, now of Los Angeles, a charter member of Chapter L.

The officers for the ensuing year are president, Edith Hunchberger; vice president, Josephine Bryant; secretary, Emma Burket; corresponding secretary, May Chase; treasurer, May Lee; chaplain, Charlotte Campbell.

EXTENSION OF THE GAS SYSTEM.

The Southern California Gas Company has had a large force of men at work during the past week extending its mains eastward from Glendale avenue to Verdugo road. The people of that section welcome this improvement, as until recently it has been feared that no further development work would be done by the gas company in that direction.

The management of the Brownsberger Commercial College has arranged to give a matinee party to two hundred of its pupils, and has secured for this occasion the entire balcony of the Orpheum Theater for next Saturday afternoon. The pupils will assemble on the grounds of the College, and proceed from there to the theater. The "Brownsberger" colors will be carried by the pupils, and will be on the stage during the performance. A very pleasing entertainment is anticipated.

The Jewel City baseball team went to San Fernando last Sunday and crossed bats with a country team there. The game was an exciting one, with some snappy plays. The Jewels came out ahead, with a score of 4 to 1. Next Sunday they go to Filimore to play the team there, and another victory is looked for.

THE CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

The choir will meet for Easter music rehearsal Saturday 8 p. m., in church, under the direction of Mr. Douglas, organist of St. Paul's pro-cathedral, Los Angeles. Any person having church hymnals at their disposal kindly bring them to the church Saturday afternoon for use of choir until a new supply arrives. All members of choir with as many new ones as possible, will please be in attendance at the above hour.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Next Sunday morning the paster will extend the right hand of fellowship to new members and the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will follow a short sermon on the communion.

The regular mid-week meeting of the church is held on Wednesday evening at 7:30, to which everyone is welcome.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. James Hoffman, 124 East Second street, Thursday, April 6th, at 2:30 p. m. All the women of the church and congregation are invited.

There was a large congregation present last Sunday evening to hear the pastor's initial sermon on "The Lost Trail." The series will be continued next Sunday evening when Mr. Haines will speak on "Finding a Guide." All are invited.

Criticism from the Chicago Record-Herald.

WITH AUTHORS AND BOOKS.

John L. Stoddard, author of "The Stoddard Lectures," who now lives in a beautiful villa on Lake Como, Italy, has turned his attention from foreign travels to literature, having just brought out a series of twelve volumns known as "The Stoddard Library," which guarantees to its readers "a thousand hours of entertainment with the world's great writers." In other words, he has compiled an anthology, a big bouquet of the flowers of literature from Homer to Ibsen, including representative stories, poems, essays, plays, extracts from great novels, histories, etc.

The sample of each author's work fills from one to sixty pages and is preceded by a brief but excellent biographical sketch. The whole work is arranged alphabetically, beginning with Addison and Aeschylus and ending with Wordsworth and Zola, and at the end of the twelfth volume is a well arranged index, making the contents of all easily accessible. Each volume is embellished with eight unusually fine color pictures—painted by A. W. Buehler—of the homes of authors or scenes connected with their writings.

Mr. Stoddard's work is especially commendable for the extent to which it manages to cover the coyprighted present-day writers as well as the older classics. Stevenson, Hardy, Meredith, Bjornson, Ibsen, Hall Caine, Blackmore's "Lorna Doone," Darwin's "Descent of Man," Green's "Short History of the English People"—these are represented as well as Byron and Tennyson, Dickens and Thackeray. Care evidently has been taken to include nothing that cannot safely be put into the hands of young folk. Thus, the two or three stories from Boccaccio's "Decameron" are unexceptionable.

The work is really what it purports to be—a compact family library of select bits of the best literature of all lands and times. The print is large and clear, the paper good, the binding plain and substantial, and the pictures choice in coloring and composition. For the person who has few books and is perhaps far from a public library this set is invaluable.

GLENDALE, CAL., MARCH 31, 1911

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

We are mailing a large number of bills for subscriptions this week. Our patrons will confer a favor upon the proprietor of the paper by giving them prompt attention.

Our Midwinter Special edition is a credit to Glendale. Mail copies to your friends.

Get a copy of our Midwinter Special and mail it to distant friends. It will be a revelation to them.

The Jewel City Press of last week contained a well-written article on Glendale, dealing with its history and the various conditions which make it a desirable place for homeseekers.

The Land and Products exhibition in Los Angeles has not many features of particular interest to Californians acquainted with the possibilities of their state, but it must be an eye-opener to the tourist of the East.

We did not like the apparent wobbling of Senator Gates on the 8-hour law, which he talked against and voted for, but he certainly put up a splendid fight on the county division and anti-injunction bill.

Attention is again called to our special edition descriptive of Glendale, Tropico and vicinity. It should have a wide circulation and is the best advertisem nt of this section recently put out. Price five cents. Subscribers entitled to a copy free; call for it if not received.

Hollywood has been promised by Manager Paul Shoup of the Los Angeles Pacific Railway Co. that a five-cent fare will be established between that place and Los Angeles in two years from date and that in two months sixty-ride individual commutation tickets will be sold for $3.50.

The announcement made in last week's issue of the candidacy of Mr. Wilmot Parcher for the position of school trustee makes it possible for the people of Glendale to put in that responsible place a man whose public record proves him to be able, independent and without sectional bias. He will no doubt be elected.

Legislation recently adopted to the effect that hereafter annexed territory must bear its proportion of the indebtedness of the city of which it becomes a part, must have a jarring and deterring tendency on the part of our neighbors who have been longing to become a part of Los Angeles. The bonded indebtedness of that city now is approximately $100 per capita.

Last week we quoted Col. Roosevelt's Arizona speech in which he declared himself opposed to the recall as applied to the judiciary. The very next day after making that speech he made another in Los Angeles and—hedged! As nearly as we can gather, the Colonel believes it is wrong in Arizona and right in California!

Governor Johnson's position between the labor union element of San Francisco and the "Solid South" delegation from Los Angeles, has not been altogether a happy one. His action in using his influence to defeat the anti-injunction measure in the assembly, should give him a large credit mark on the account kept by his critics.

The Sacramento Union celebrated last week its sixtieth birthday and the anniversary number was made particularly interesting by the publication of reminiscences of its early days by two or three of the survivors of the men who worked on it in its infancy. The Union has had a somewhat checkered career, but has always kept its place as one of the best of the Pacific Coast dailies.

An effort is being made to get the Ministerial Union in Los Angeles to come out in favor of woman suffrage. There are no doubt many ministers who favor this movement for equal franchise, but it seems to us that they will betray a lack of good judgment if they take the question into the pulpit. The effort to make it appear that the cause is any more "holy" than the cause of protection, or sound money or any other purely political subject, will only tend to make it ridiculous.

CHANGE IN SCHOOL LAW.

We have received a circular from the state superintendent of public instruction calling attention to the new school law by which the annual taking of a school census is done away with. The year's funds will be based entirely upon the average daily attendance hereafter. The state at large saves something like sixty thousand dollars a year in the matter of taking the census.

We are in receipt of a great deal of matter being sent out from the Equal Suffrage headquarters in Los Angeles. Not desiring to have a too long campaign on this issue we are not using any of it, but will do so later. It is an exceedingly live question and both sides will have a showing in our columns before it comes to an issue. Meanwhile if any of our readers have opinions on the subject which they would like to give expression to at once, either for or against, we shall be glad to start the debate without further delay.

The Tropico Sentinel after a week's rest comes out with an eight-page issue put out by the Western Newspaper Syndicate, Los Angeles. These ready print issues make our home print product look small, but the NEWS continues to do business at the old stand, the only home-made paper between Los Angeles and Burbank.

"BOOSTING GLENDALE."

Every now and then the NEWS rejects offers from "Special Writers" who want us to get out a special edition or a "Booster" number and turn them loose upon the community to solicit advertising and paid write-ups of individuals. This sort of thing is legitimate enough in itself, but it occurs to us that it is rather overdone in this community, and we have refrained from burdening our business men, who stand the brunt of this work usually, with anything of the kind more than our annual special edition which we expect to continue as a feature of the New Year's season. We stand ready to "Boost Glendale," however, without special price or money.

McLACHLAN ON ARMY INEFFICIENCY.

We have received a copy of the speech of Hon. Jas. McLachlan delivered in the house of representatives March 3rd last on the Inefficiency of our Army. This speech is in line with one delivered by our representative on May 19th, 1910, on the Defencelessness of the Pacific Coast. It charges that the army is "entirely without tactical organization and that it is but a grotesque, illy proportioned aggregation of armed men unprepared in training or complemented equipment to meet the exactments of even a minor war." It criticises in severe terms the suppression of the recent report of the secretary of war which it is claimed disclosed the weakness of the organization. We fancy that one of the motives impelling the president to order the mobilization of the army along our southern boundary line, was to refute the arguments made by Mr. McLachlan and other army critics.

NOT "UNSAFE."

Mr. N. C. Burch has a column and a half article in the last issue of the Tropico Sentinel reflecting upon Mr. F. J. Muehlman, city attorney of Glendale, because Mr. Muehlman advised the trustees of this city that they had no power to call off the annexation election of March 21st. Mr. Burch does his fellow attorney an injustice. Mr. Muehlman is not an "Unsafe Counselor," simply because his legal opinion may differ from that of Mr. Burch, and in advising the trustees as he did he was not only supported by the opinion of other well-qualified attorneys, but as it appears to a layman, by "common sense" as well. To make his charge against Mr. Muehlman good it is for Mr. Burch to quote law and precedent, not opinion only, for with all the high regard which we entertain for the members of the legal fraternity, it must be confessed that their opinions on any given subject are various. In saying this much in regard to the controversy over the Tropico Incorporation matter, the NEWS expresses no opinion whatever over the merits of that question.

THE PASSING OF A NOTABLE LEGISLATIVE SESSION.

The thirty-ninth session of the California legislature has passed into history and it has made history. Legislatures in California have done nothing particularly notable for a number of years. They have been cut and dried affairs as a rule, and yet there have been exceptions, and the mere fact that these exceptions occurred is in itself proof that the revolution which has taken place in California during the past two or three years, has not been the result of any new laws or systems, but was simply an awakening of the public conscience to a sense of its duty. The legislature which has just adjourned has passed more radical laws than all the previous thirty-eight. Some of them are undoubtedly in the nature of real reform; others are purely experimental. It is greatly to the credit of this legislature that it put the race tracks out of business; former legislatures have attempted to do so, but the time was not ripe nor the people sufficiently aroused as to the necessity for it. Other similar measures were enacted which had dragged along through previous sessions without results. One of the really amusing features of this session has been the work done for "reform" by old-time legislators who have had opportunity any time for a dozen years past to take the same stand for good government which they did this winter, but who did nothing until "reform" became popular! Many of these same statesmen have in previous session taken orders from the railroad powers, but this time the poor old Southern Pacific has hold on none so poor as to do it reverence! We still hold to the opinion that the government is not one particle "nearer to the people" then it was before this era of reform began.

The people have acted, that is all; and their action in the main has undoubtedly been wise and necessary, but they could have acted sooner had they been awake to a sense of politicay duty. They needed no weapon which they did not have. If they think now that the good work done has been accomplished solely by the use of new machinery, they will soon depend upon the machine to act automatically and so relapse into old conditions.

THE SPIRIT OF KINDNESS.

Day by day the newspapers see to it that we are kept well informed as to the wickedness of the world. Every crime that is discovered is deemed to be worthy of space for the telling. The wrongs committed by individuals, as if not enough in themselves for the delectation of mankind, are coupled with the wrongfulness of inanimate things, of governments, systems and laws, until as he ponders over the dreadful catalogue of them, the average man is impelled to cry out," the wickedness of the world increaseth day by day and there is no virtue in it." Then just when he has arrived very nearly at the conclusion that human life is a miserable thing that is scarcely worth clinging to, the wind changes, the sun shines, the clouds roll by and before the mind's eye of the average citizen unfolds a beautiful world where kindness is the predominant motive and the beauty of life becomes apparent. For the world is not desperately and hopelessly wicked. The good deeds that shine like little candles, make bright the dark places and prove that human beings are kind to one another after all. Most of "man's inhumanity to man," is the result of ignorance and thoughtlessness. Bad laws are not usually intended to be bad, bad systems have not grown up and been nurtured in a desire on the part of one man to oppress another and the unkindness of one individual to another is not always intended to be unkind. In times of great disasters such as the present famine in China, the great heart of the world is moved by the promptings of common humanity and waves of kindness that carry relief to the sufferers, sweep over the world. There is on such occasions no time spent in questioning as to color and moral conditions, but the universal heart throb impels the veins of all the race, impels the charity of human brotherhood.

On the streets of our cities everyday accidents occur, some unfortunate is stricken helpless and his life depends upon the kindness of the passerby; and it rarely happens that this dependence fails, usually there are many hands stretched out to assist and the busiest man in the throng of people passing on the street finds time to lend assistance. The world is not hopelessly wicked; it is on the contrary full of kindness and the spark of the divine in every human soul is never quite extinguished but is liable to blaze out in a beautiful flame at times and in places most unexpected. And to realize and remember this, goes far to help the spread of that spirit which will in time bring to pass that day when swords shall be converted into pruning hooks, spears into plowshares and a little child shall lead in the leash of kindness the lion and the lamb!

PRIZE ESSAY ENTERTAINMENT.

The prize essay entertainment given on Saturday night at the Glendale high school auditorium under the supervision of Mrs. J. L. Overton, superintendent of scientific temperance instruction of the local W. C. T. U. was an unusually interesting occasion. In her introductory remarks Mrs. Gaylord stated that in 1874 there were no laws providing for scientific temperance instruction in the public schools but since that time the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been instrumental in securing such in every state in the union.

The essay given treated of various phases of the alcoholic and tobacco questions and the subject matter contained in them and manner of presentation of the same was highly creditable to the young people and their instructors. The prizes were awarded according to requirement of the national W. C. T. U. and were as follows: Three dollars to Miss Elizabeth Byrkitt of the high school, two dollars and one dollar to Cordella Croad and Ruth Palmer, respectively, of the Fourth street school. Mrs. Ryan, principal, and two dollars to Fay Stannard of the Sixth street school, Miss Waite, principal.

Miss Emma Pulliam read a clear, logical and original essay which was considered most superior by the judges, and Miss Violet Turner's was excellent.

The program was interspersed with enjoyable music and readings.

The high school mandoun club under the direction of Mrs. Gibson, gave several most creditable selections. Miss Cutler rendered a brilliant piano solo, Mrs. Tarr gave an amusing reading, and Mrs. Haines entertained her hearers with two of Eugene Field's child stories; Mr. Taylor sang a beautiful duet to which his voice was well adapted, while a duet by this gentleman and Miss McKee was rendered with taste and expression. Julius Kranz, as usual, pleased his hearers by violin selections.

Prof. Moyse spoke with no uncertain sound in regard to the attitude of teachers towards alcohol and tobacco and urged the co-operation of parents with teachers to better moral conditions and raise school standards.

BRIEF EXTRACTS FROM HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST ESSAYS.

From Evelyn Ryan's Essay.

European countries are anxiously asking for the causes of commercial supremacy of the United States. The answer to these inquiries is that business men in the United States are demanding abstinence more and more from their employes and in return are receiving a higher efficiency in work.

The United States census reports show that over fifty per cent of the big business concerns of the United States demand total abstinence. All of the great railways of the East have forbidden their employes to use intoxicating liquors.

The reason why railroads demand abstinence is because the use of liquors causes accidents. Alcohol decreases power of special senses, especially of sight and hearing, both important in that line of business. Impaired vision may work damage in three ways: failure to see exact train orders, to read exact time or watch and see signals.

Extracts from Zeus Askeland's Essay.

Alcohol is one of the greatest evils of mankind. The largest per cent of the inmates of the insane asylums are those who are slaves of alcohol.

The only way in which this great evil can be stopped is to stop the manufacture of all liquors. Germany has made and is still making a decided step in this direction. She has made a decrease that reached into the hundreds in the number of breweries that manufacture beer. It is said that England patents the ideas and Germany puts them to a practical use. This great step now in progress should be copied by every nation, and we would then live in a more civilized world.

There are many organizations that are fighting liquor with a great deal of success. These clubs and organizations cannot get rid of the curse alone, but need the combined efforts of everybody in the community and the communities in turn must combine with others, and in this way form a large league which will spread and take up more work. It would not take long for a whole county to be under the sway of these organizations.

From Marguerite Lyon's Essay.

There are many people who, though opposed to the use of alcoholic beverages of any kind do not hesitate to take a medicine, socalled bitters and other patent preparations, many of which contain alcohol in greater or less quantities, and which therefore are as intoxicating as wine or beer or even whisky.

Alcohol is a stimulant, also a narcotic when used in larger quantities. Any person who uses stimulants continuously is whipping his own body as the cruel master does his horse.

The danger from stimulants is especially great when used by young and growing persons. They require all the nervous energy that their bodies produce to keep their organs, besides doing their proper work. If therefore these organs be whipped by stimulants they become accustomed to them and will not or can not properly work.

From Margaret Harrison's Essay.

The person who has cultivated a taste for alcohol of any description finds the saloon a very great temptation and nearly always stops for "just one glass." This is the influence the saloon has on a vast number of our men. Whereas, if a man had the power to pass a saloon and go to an ice cream parlor and quench his thirst with a glass of clear water or a dish of ice cream, he would very soon become his own master and not let liquor be the master of him.

But unless the liquor question is settled and that will be when the laborer uses mind enough to leave it alone, the same old way of doing business will continue. When this is done and only then, will we have struck at the first outpost of this great enemy and begun a sane campaign which, starting at the mind will reach the heart and in ultimate victory gain the soul of man.

Jefferson Davis and His Nerves.

Jefferson Davis shrank from the sight of every form of suffering, even in imagination. When the "Babes In the Wood" was first read to him, a grown man, in time of illness, he would not endure the horror of it. His sympathy with the oppressed was almost abnormal, "so that," says Mrs. Davis, "it was a difficult matter to keep order with children and servants." All this shows that he was nervous, sensitive, which is a terrible handicap to a leader of men. He suffered always from nervous dyspepsia and neuralgia and "came home from his office fasting, a mere mass of throbbing nerves and perfectly exhausted." He was keenly susceptible to the atmosphere about him, especially to the moods of people, "abnormally sensitive to disapproval. Even a child's disapproval discomposed him." And Mrs. Davis admits that this sensitiveness and acute feeling of being misjudged made him reserved and unapproachable. It made him touchy as to his dignity also, and there are stories of his cherishing a grudge for some insignificant or imagined slight and punishing the author of it.—Gamaliel Bradford, Jr., in Atlantic.

Irving and His Money.

John Hare, the English actor, said that one of the failings charged to Irving's account was that of extravagance—that he did not know the value of money. It is quite true he did not know the value of money for himself, but he knew its value to others. He knew its value to the poor and helpless, and to these he gave with a lavish hand.

Once, not long before his death, playing a three nights' engagement in an unpretentious midland town, his habit was to drive nightly to the theater (a very short distance from his hotel) in the same dilapidated fly. The fare was a shilling. The conveyance was shabby, the driver old, poor and worn out. At the conclusion of the engagement, on entering his hotel, Irving said to the landlord, "Have you paid the cabman?" "Yes, Sir Henry." "What did you give him for himself?" "I gave him half a crown, Sir Henry." "Give him a sovereign," was the rejoinder; "he drives very well, and he doesn't drive often."

The Myth of the Doones.

How largely Mr. Blackmore drew upon his imagination for the story of "Lorna Doone" is made clear by F. W. Hackwood in his book, "The Good Old Times." There were, in fact, no Doones. The word was simply a local bogy, a modified form of "Dane," a memory of the faroff times when the viking invaders harried the land. "The only vestige of actuality discoverable is a faint tradition that a fugitive from the battle of Sedgmoor, to escape the hangings of Judge Jeffreys, appropriated the ruins of some wretched huts in recesses of the Badgworthy glen, now 'the Doon valley,' finding there a safe retreat in which he reared a considerable family, which managed to eke out a living by committing petty depredations in the district. The 'last of the Doones,' an old man and his granddaughter, are said to have perished in the snow during the winter of 1800."

Joy In Store For Some One.

Among the advertisements in a monthly magazine we find this:

For Sale or Exchange.—A fine young male bobcat and a female coyote; also a mandolin and pair of fieldglasses.

Such opportunities as this are not often offered. The fieldglasses most of us could manage to do without, but the male bobcat, the female coyote and the mandolin would go far to make life happy for any reasonable individual. All these are productive of music, and music gives joy to all rightly constituted persons. There are, of course, some people who cannot play upon a mandolin, but anybody can play upon a bobcat or a coyote. This fine chance to get a varied and interesting collection of musical instruments will undoubtedly bring many replies.—Rochester Union and Advertiser.

The Laziest People.

There is no doubt that the Malays are among the laziest people in the world. Except in rare cases they will not take the trouble to learn when they are young, and afterward, if they have learned, they will not exert themselves to apply their knowledge to any object which require a sustained effort. That they possess effort is known to any one who has seen Malays engaged in any enterprise which savors of sport. They do not mind the trouble if there is only some risk and excitement in the work.—Times of Malaya.

A Marked Judge.

The descriptive reporter of a certain daily paper in describing the turning of a dog out of court by order of the bench recently detailed the occurrence as follows: "The ejected canine as he was ignominiously dragged from the room cast a glance at the judge for the purpose of being able to identify him at some future time."

Work of Providence.

"The man died eating watermelons," some one said to Brother Dickey.

"Yes, suh," he said. "Providence sometimes puts us in paradise befo' we gits ter heaven."—Atlanta Constitution.

Unspeakable.

"What would you think, daddy, if Algernon Nocash should suggest becoming your son-in-law?"

"Withdraw, my dear, while I think aloud."—Brooklyn Life.

Quered His Grandfather.

Peter Augustus had a foolish, fond old grandfather. The grandfather was boasting to a visitor one day, as grandfathers will, about the family he had raised.

"My daughter Martha is a fine young woman," he said, "and her little boy, Peter Augustus, is a fine lad. But the finest thing about that pair is the affection that exists between them. They never exchange a cross word. They're more like two young lovers than mother and son. It's beautiful to see them together. Hold on a minute, and I'll call Peter Augustus in. Then his mother will come down, and you can see their relations for yourself."

The old man rose and ambled heavily to the door. There was a beatific smile on his old face. Little Peter Augustus was playing with the cat in the garden.

"Peter Augustus!" he shouted. "Peter Augustus! Your mother wants you!"

The little boy dropped the cat and fixed a searching glance on his grandfather.

"Your mother wants you, Peter Augustus!"

"Does she want to warm me?" Peter Augustus cautiously demanded.

Really Worth While.

Eben Pratt of Marshby had sent two sons to Boston and knew he had reason to be proud of them. One day a summer visitor lingering in Mr. Pratt's grocery, provision and dry goods establishment mentioned some of the shining lights who had made themselves remembered in and near Boston and others still to be found there.

"We've had a good many smart men and women in and around our city," said the visitor, "and there are a number of them left. We've got scientific men and writers and artists and musicians and"—

Mr. Pratt's dry voice broke in on the list. "If ye call those folks smart," he said, "ye want to go down near the water to an address I'll give ye and see the way my boys, Ed and Sam, can open oysters! I guess that'll give ye something to go by when ye're talking of smartness."—Exchange.

Willing to Be Honest.

Phil May, the great English artist, earned his first fame in Australia. One day a broken down minister applied to him for charity, and May engaged him as a model. As a joke he also demanded that his eighty-year-old pensioner agree to leave him his skeleton when he died. When May left Australia he called his model in. "You've played me a dirty trick," said May, "by swindling me out of that skeleton. I could have bought one in sound order and condition for half the money you've cost me." The old fellow, conscious of his base ingratitude to his best and most patient friend, answered: "Don't be angry with me, Mr. May. It's not my fault. I meant to keep my word. Stay in Sydney a few months longer and give me another chance to show you that I am a man of honor."

Redhot Plays.

"It is a tremendous undertaking to get a new play accepted and produced," once said the late Clyde Fitch to a friend. "So many are written, and so few ever see the light of day. An English playwright with a gift of humorous exaggeration illustrated this fact to me once. He told me how he submitted a play to a celebrated actor and how in the course of the conversation the actor remarked:

"'Don't you think it is growing chilly in this room?'

"'Yes; it is rather,' the young playwright admitted.

"Then the actor rang a bell, and a servant forthwith appeared.

"'James,' said the actor, 'this room is rather cold. You may put three more manuscripts on the fire.'"—Lippincott's.

A Competent Critic.

A famous actor at an elaborate entertainment at a Fifth avenue millionaire's palace in New York rose to recite Mrs. Browning's "Dead Pan." As he announced his subject and prepared to begin he heard a lady near him say distinctly:

"What is the next piece? Something funny, I hope. Oh, yes—'The Dead Pan!' Dear me, how odd! Of course it must be funny—something about bad cooking, I suppose."

Playing Her Cards.

Tommy—May I stay up a little longer? Ethel—What do you want to stay up for? Tommy—I want to see you and Mr. Green playing cards. Mr. Green—But we are not going to play cards. Tommy—Oh, yes, you are, for I heard mamma saying to Ethel that everything depended on the way in which she played her cards tonight.

Cautious.

The young housekeeper was looking at some soft-shell crabs squirming and wriggling in their bed of seaweed.

"They're very nice," said the dealer. "Shall I send you a dozen?"

"Yes," answered the innocent, "if you are sure they are fresh."—New York Journal.

Trials and Temptations.

Every man deems that he has precisely the trials and temptations which are the hardest of all for him to bear, but they are so because they are the very ones he needs.—Richter.

Fly Time.

Howell—What is the best time of day to go up in an airship? Powell—Well, I've always been a believer in early rising.—New York Press.

They can conquer who believe they can.—Dryden.

Anne Boleyn and the Lemon.

Who ever thinks of connecting such a commonplace article of diet as the lemon with the romantic history of ill fated Anne Boleyn? Yet indirectly she was the cause of its first introduction into England and so into popular notice. Henry VIII. gave such splendid feasts and pageants in honor of the coronation of Anne and of their previous nuptials as had seldom been accorded to queens of the blood royal. These kingly entertainments were in turn followed by the great civic feasts of London, for which the whole world was searched for delicacies to add to the splendor. At one such banquet, graced by the presence of the royal pair, a lemon was introduced as an elegant novelty. To an epicure such as Henry the acquisition of a castle in France would have proved less acceptable, and such was the importance attached to the discovery—so says an old biographer—that a special record was made of the fact that the cost of this precious lemon was six silver pennies!

An Architectural Curiosity.

There are many churches throughout England which are without tower or spire, but there are few churches which can boast of having a tower and spire side by side. One of these is the parish church of Ormskirk, in Lancashire. The tower is built over the porch at the west end, and the spire is placed as closely as possible to it. The origin of this architectural freak has not been ascertained, but there is a tradition to the effect that when Orme, the Saxon pirate from whom the town derives its name, decided to construct a kirk, or church, as an expiatory offering for his evil deeds his two daughters quarreled over the design for the structure. One determined to have a tower; the other was equally resolved to have a steeple. As neither of them would give way the pirate chief acceded to both their wishes, and the curious may see the tower and spire still keeping watch side by side on the surrounding country.

She Played the Green.

The attache of a European embassy was very much attracted by a western girl of great beauty and still greater wealth at a summer resort, and in order to interest her deeply he fell into the habit of discoursing at length on his family tree and telling her that ancestry was of great value to a man.

The girl from the west had been brought up in a section of the country where every man was accepted for what he was and not because of what his ancestors had been or done. She began to be bored by the attache's lectures on pedigree.

"Blue blood," he remarked one day, "is something not everybody can boast of."

"Oh, yes," she agreed indifferently, "but what's the use of blue blood if you haven't got the long green?"—Popular Magazine.

Contempt For the House of Commons.

There is nothing noble or exalted in the history of the house of commons. Indeed, a devil's advocate had he the requisite talent could easily deliver an oration as long and as eloquent as any of Burke's or Sheridan's, taking as his subject the stupidity, cowardice and, until recent times, the corruption of the house of commons. I confess I cannot call to mind a single occasion in its long and remarkable history when the house of commons, as a whole, played a part either obviously heroic or conspicuously wise, but we all of us can recall hundreds of occasions when, heroism and wisdom being greatly needed, the house of commons exhibited either selfish indifference, crass ignorance or the vulgarest passion.—Augustine Birrell's "Essays and Addresses."

The Swedish Almanac.

The Swedish name almanac differs from English almanacs in giving, besides the usual information, a Christian name for each sex for every day of the year. The names set forth have to receive the approval of the king. The object aimed at is to secure a greater choice of names for parents and to avoid the endless repetition of a dozen or so names. A similar name almanac is issued under royal authority in one of the German states.—London Graphic.

Sounded Bigger.

"How did you get that new clerk? He wouldn't accept an offer from me."

"Probably I offered him larger inducements."

"I told him his wages would be $10 a week."

"That's it, then. I told him his salary would be $40 a month."—Cleveland Leader.

Moral Courage.

As to moral courage, I have very rarely met with the 2 o'clock in the morning courage. I mean unprepared courage, that which is necessary on an unexpected occasion, and which, in spite of the most unforeseen events, leaves full freedom of judgment and decision. —Napoleon.

Beginning Early.

Caller (viewing new baby)—Do you think he is going to resemble his father? Mother—I shouldn't be surprised. He keeps me up nights even now.—Boston Transcript.

Ups and Downs.

"Oh, well, everybody has his ups and downs!"

"That's right. Just at present I'm down pretty low because I'm hard up."

The great soul of this world is just.—Carlyle.

Spider Racing.

Lord Devon's property was greatly impoverished by the twelfth earl, who squandered nearly all his fortune and terribly embarrassed the entailed property. He was addicted to a most peculiar form of gambling, namely, spider racing, which he played with the last Marquis of Hastings and the eighth Duke of Bedford. Each player selected a spider, which was placed on the table, and then the latter was gently heated from underneath. The warmth caused the insects to run, and the spider which got to the edge first won. But spiders are curious creatures, and it would frequently happen that a spider which was near the edge and looked like winning would double back, traverse the table in all directions and lose its backer the thousands of pounds so nearly won. Lord Devon, Lord Hastings and the Duke of Bedford each of them squandered enormous sums on this game, which contributed in no small degree to the ruin of the two former.—New York Tribune.

Inn Names In Germany.

Germany probably holds the record for out of the way signs and fantastic inn names. The most absurd results are usually obtained by the name of some animal with a more or less unsuitable object. The Comfortable Chicken and the Cold Frog, both of them in Berlin, are certainly left in the shade by the Angry Ant (Ort, in Westphalia) and the Stiff Dog (Berlin). The Lame Louse is an inn in a suburb of Berlin, and not far from it is the Thirsty Pelican. The Dirty Parlor, the Bloody Bones, the Musical Cats, the Fourhundredweight Man, and the Boxers' Den are all in Berlin or the neighborhood, and the Old Straw Bag in Leipzig. The Open Bunghole is in Stadtohen, in the Palatinate, and the Shoulder Blade in Jerichow. The Last Tear is a landlord's notion for the name of his inn, situated near a graveyard, visited by returning mourners, and is of frequent occurrence throughout the fatherland.

A Strange Colony.

The Colonia Cosme, on the Paraguay above Asuncion, is one of the most curious in the world. The members of the colony make or grow everything they want and import nothing. The workmen have seven hours' work a day and earn, not money, but time. Their wages are hours and half hours. These they sometimes save up till they have a week in hand and then go off on an excursion. If a man wants a chair or table he pays for it in hours of work, which are deducted from the balance to his credit. Three men went off up the river in a canoe for a three weeks' holiday. They sold their canoe at Asuncion for a pound and came home overland in ten days, lodged in the best houses in the villages on the way and yet had some money in hand at the end.—London Spectator.

Dogs In Ecclesiastical Decorations.

The stained glass representation of the "Peddler and His Dog" was removed from Lambeth church a quarter of a century ago owing to the alleged incongruity of introducing the figure of a dog in a church window. Quite recently Chancellor Prescott of Carlisle refused a faculty for a stained glass window in a Westmorland church because the design included a dog, and perhaps the only existing examples of dogs used for ecclesiastical decorations are to be found in Lord Brownlow's private chapel at Ashbridge. In this church one stained glass window depicts Tobias and Sara in bed and a dog sleeping on the quilt, while in another window Job is shown being mocked by three men, one of whom is holding a dog by a chain.—Westminster Gazette.

The Giant's Staircase.

One of the most widely known geological curiosities in the vicinity of Cork is a series of knobs or knots projecting from the face of a cliff. There are sixteen of these huge projections all together, all regularly set in the face of the cliff, one above the other, forming a series of such uniformity as to give it the general appearance of a stairway. Since time out of memory this queer ascent and its projecting "steps" have been known as the Giant's Staircase.

How He Won.

A rich old man was asked how he made his money. "Simplest thing in the world," he said. "I always did the reverse of what everybody else was doing. If everybody bought, I sold—prices were high. If everybody sold, I bought—prices were low."

Prepared For the Worst.

"I have declined marriage proposals from five men," said the fair widow.

"Have you?" her friend asked. "I didn't suppose your husband had been as heavily insured as that."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Rosa Bonheur's Humble Lover.

When asked why she had never married Rosa Bonheur always answered: "Nobody ever fell in love with me. I have never been truly loved." More than one man, however, really worshiped her. But she inspired such deep respect that no man seems to have dared to reveal his feelings to her. There is a curious example of this fact, taken from the humble walks of life. On several occasions Rosa Bonheur had done service for a workingman who throughout his life spent his savings in buying engravings of her principal pictures and photographs of herself. His simple dwelling was a temple to her kindness. He described himself as "the earthworm in love with a star." The person here referred to—E. A. Bautray of Clermont-Ferrand—tells me that Rosa Bonheur once asked him why he was not married, and he replied by asking her the same question. Here was her answer: "Well, sir, it is not because I am an enemy of marriage, but I assure you that I have never had time to consider the subject." —"Reminiscences of Rosa Bonheur."

Paternalism in Groceries.

Paternalism with a vengeance is practiced in certain New York groceries It is benevolent paternalism, though

"Ma wants two pounds of sugar," said a child to a patriarch in the trade.

He consulted a calendar on the wall.

"I guess you'd better take only a pound today," he said, "and go kind of slow on that. The week is only half gone, but you have already eaten up three-fourths of your allowance. Tell your mother so."

The child promised to deliver the report on financial depression.

"That is the only way on earth to keep those people from running into debt," said the grocer. "The system is common in this neighborhood. I do it at the customers' request. Every pay day women with spendthrift husbands and an extravagant disposition of their own deposit enough money with the grocer and butcher to see the family through the week. They instruct us to let no one overdraw the amount, and except in cases where extra food is actually needed we stick to our end of the bargain."—New York Times.

Horrors of Bokhara.

The terrible deeds that once made Bokhara a byword are now prohibited by the Russian government. Prisoners are not permitted, for instance, to be dragged through the streets by galloping horses. Nor are they thrown from the top of the high tower called the Minar Katan. This was the usuall punishment meted out to evildoers in the old days. Watched by thousands of spectators, the poor wretches were flung from that giddy height on to the flagstones beneath.

Bokhara has many chambers of horrors, unwholesome for western eyes to see and the description of which would certainly be unfit for publication. Perhaps the most horrible of these is a pit where prisoners were tortured by vermin, which were so numerous and ravenous that in the absence of human prey they were fed on chunks of raw meat.—Wide World Magazine.

Disraeli and Goldwin Smith.

It may have been partly by suspicion of my possession of an unpleasant secret that Disraeli was moved to follow me across the Atlantic and try, as he did in "Lothair," to brand me as "a social sycophant." His knowledge of my social character was not great, for I had only once met him in society. His allusion to the "Oxford professor" who was going to the United States was as transparent as if he had used my name. Had I been in England, where my character was known, I should have let the attack pass, but I was in a strange country, where, made by a man of note, the attack was likely to tell. I therefore gave Disraeli the lie, and neither he nor any of his organs ever ventured to repeat the calumny.—Goldwin Smith in McClure's.

The Thimble.

About 200 years ago a London goldsmith called Trotting made and presented to the lady of his heart on her birthday anniversary a thimble of gold, beautifully ornamented and chased, accompanied by a note which introduced the little contraption as a "token of my humble esteem which shall protect those delicate, fair and industrious fingers from prick and scar of needle head." That was the origin of the thimble.

Fate of a Duchess.

We have had excellent morals drawn from the substantial waist of the Venus of Milo for the admonition of the fashionable woman. But what can we say about the Duchesse de Mazarin, who (G. Duval tells us in "Shadows of Old Paris") "died in 1775 from tight lacing, although she had posed for a statue of Venus?"

A Matter of Looks.

First Boarding House Keeper—I always keep my boarders longer than you do. Second Boarding House Keeper—Oh, I don't know! You keep them so thin that they look longer than they really are.—Boston Record.

He Got His.

Geraldine—You haven't been to see me since you asked father for my hand. Gerald—No; this is the first time I've been able to get about.—Human Life.

All Alike.

The following entry appears in the "visitors' book" of a hotel in Germany: "The living here is good, plain and substantial. So is the waitress."

Whatever mitigates the woes or increases the happiness of others is a just criterion of goodness, and whatever injures society at large or any individual in it is a criterion of iniquity. One should not quarrel with a dog without a reason sufficient to vindicate one through all the courts of morality.—Goldsmith.

Good Proof.

"Guess I must have been born unlucky."

"What makes you say that?"

"Well, for instance, I went to a ball game once. There were eighteen players on the diamond, fifteen or twenty on the benches, 10,000 people in the grand stand, 20,000 on the bleachers, and—the ball hit me!"—Toledo Blade.

A Proof.

"That girl is trying to make a fool of me."

"Oh, no! She never tries anything ready made."—Baltimore American.

A Woman's Mind.

Sillicus—A woman never seems able to make up her mind. Cynicus—Why should she? She would only change it again.—Philadelphia Record.

Who bravely dares must sometimes risk a fall.—Smollett.

Beauty and the Beast.

A well known churchman was visiting New York, accompanied by his wife, who is as beautiful as her life mate is homely. They were walking down Broadway one afternoon, and the pair attracted much attention. One of two young "sports," evidently thinking to attract the favorable attention of the churchman's wife, in an audible aside remarked that it was another case of "the beauty and the beast." Quick as a wink the husband turned and, as he swung his right to the speaker's jaw, scoring a knockout, said, "I am a man of peace, but I never allow any one to call my wife a beast."

Solitude.

Solitude is dangerous to reason without being favorable to virtue. Pleasures of some sort are necessary to the intellectual as to the corporal health, and those who resist gayety will be likely for the most part to fall a sacrifice to appetite, for the solicitations of sense are always at hand, and a dram to a vacant and solitary person is a speedy and seducing relief. Remember that the solitary person is certainly luxurious, probably superstitious and possibly mad. The mind stagnates for want of employment and is extinguished, like a candle in foul air.—Johnson.

TO THE PUBLIC.

At the request of a number of friends who believe that there should be a woman trustee, I have permitted my name to go before the people as a candidate for that office at the coming election, April 7.

A large number of cities and towns in California, as well as many Eastern states, have realized the fact that woman is peculiarly fitted for the duties of school trustee, and have elected and re-elected women as members of the school board.

The position of school trustee is purely an honorary one, and should be conferred upon such citizens only as can measure up to the highest standard of morality, integrity, and a strict sense of justice to all.

If elected to this office, I shall use my utmost efforts to serve the people of this district in an honest, straightforward manner, never for a moment forgetting that a school trustee should represent all the people in his district, and, above all, see that the people's money is spent to the best advantage.

Knowing no section, and living in the center of population of the district, I shall, if elected, show no partiality of any kind whatsoever.

Believing that the people of Glendale want a clean, just, economical and impartial administration of school affairs, I pledge myself, in the event of my election, to do all in my power to serve them with that end in view.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzo Williams of North Central avenue were among the guests of a party which attended a performance of Peace on Earth at the Belmont Theater, Tuesday evening.

Mr. H. C. Goodell, who has been in the California hospital for the past three or four weeks undergoing treatment for his eyes, is reported as improving and expects to be at home shortly.

Miss Harriet Wells of West Fourth street was a week end guest of Pasadena friends. Saturday evening she was present at a box party at the Mason witnessing Madame Sherry and given in her honor.

Last Thursday evening Miss Leita McCoy and Miss Emily Ellias entertained a number of the younger set at the home of Miss Ellias in Tropico in honor of the birthday anniversary of Miss Pearl Goode.

Mrs. Leon H. Hurtt of Third street was a guest Tuesday at a charmingly appointed luncheon in Hotel Mount Washington, given by the board of directors of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The club of Glendale ladies formed for the purpose of studying Tolstoi were luncheon guests of Mrs. John Hawkins, a member of the society, in her apartments at Hotel Rosslyn in Los Angeles, last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mansfield and daughter Mary Elizabeth, of Reno, Nev., have returned home after spending ten days with Mr. Mansfield's mother, Mrs. Louisa A. Mansfield, and his sister, Mrs. J. E. Colvin.

Mrs. R. A. Peterson was hostess on Tuesday of a delightful and dainty luncheon served at her home on Adams street. The guests were Eagle Rock ladies who afterward attended the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Miss Olive Eaton of Corning, N. H., who is staying in Pasadena, called on her old friend and neighbor, Mrs. E. J. Shackford of 397 Belmont street one day last week and was delighted with our city and its surroundings.

Mr. L. M. Hering, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. E. J. Shackford of 327 Belmont street, has returned to his home in Longmont, Colorado, very much pleased with Glendale and contemplates making his future home here.

Mr. Harry Stockbridge returned Wednesday from Portland, Ore., and joined Mrs. Stockbridge at Havencroft Hotel, Long Beach, where she has been staying with her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Stockbridge will return to Glendale the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gleason of Elmira, N. Y., who have spent the winter in Honolulu and are passing through Los Angeles on their return trip, were recent guests of Mrs. H. L. Brooks of North Louise street. Mr. Gleason is the owner and proprietor of an old and well-established Sanitarium in Elmira.

The name of Mrs. Mary H. Gridley appears very prominently in the list of Los Angeles society women who form the patronesses and hostesses for the Great Land Show, and who met Wednesday for a reception and dinner in Hotel Alexandria where plans for that coming social event were discussed.

Much interest is manifested in the state convention of P. E. O. to be held in Highland Park, April 5, 6 and 7. Banquets, receptions and lectures of much interest are being planned. Mrs. John Hunchberger, president of the local chapter, will make the address presenting charters to the new members, an honor never before conferred on any but a supreme officer.

Miss Mary E. Gilbert and Miss Mary Blaisdell of Minnesota were guests at the home of Mrs. Mary Gridley on Sunday. They had spent the first of winter in Florida, coming from there to California, and declare that there is no comparison whatever between the two places, California being so very much more delightful and beautiful.

Road Overseer Light has begun work on Glendale avenue at its northern extremity and it is understood that he intends to make it fairly passable as far south as Oak street by hauling in gravel contributed by Mr. Woodberry. This is the first time in many years if ever that the county has done anything for this road which has been practicably impassable for loaded teams for a long time on account of the sand.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Fourth street school will hold its regular meeting Friday, March 31st at 3 o'clock at the school building. The program committee have been fortunate in securing Mrs. Catherine Pierce Wheat, president of the Florence Crittenden home, also the president and founder of the Los Angeles District Reciprocity Club, to speak on the "Moral Influence of the Child in the School." A very interesting meeting is promised and all are cordially invited to attend.

Masquerade Ball

The masquerade ball held Monday, March 27th, in K. of P. Hall, was a big success. About seventy-five couple enjoyed one of the most pleasant dances of the season. Miss Anabelle Eudemiller was awarded first prize for the finest costume representing Turkish lady. Mr. F. W. Merrick, 1st prize for finest cotume representing Turkish gentleman; Mrs. Dodge received second prize for the most comical lady costume representing a washerwoman. Dr. Young received second prize for the most comical gent's costume, representing Germany just over.

TROPICO

Mrs. O. B. Spear is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Teschner of San Francisco.

The Domestic Gas company is laying pipes along all of the side streets of this place.

The Tropico Ice Company, with H. C. Van Meter as manager, began serving ice to the people of Tropico last Monday.

C. D. Records will soon begin the erection of a residence in Davenport tract. J. J. Burke will be the contractor.

The Tropico Bridge club held an enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. William Harvey, jr., Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Story, proprietor of the Tropico Drug Company, has purchased two lots in the Richardson tract, where he soon will build.

Miss Alma Stone, who has been in disposed for the past two weeks at her home, has resumed her work at the Bungalow Studio.

Andrew Stevenson has sold his interest in the Stevenson-Logan block, known as the Tropico block, to Mr. Andre of Glendale.

J. J. Burke of Blanche avenue, is putting up a fine home on the same street for S. E. Brown, which Mr. and Mrs. Brown will occupy.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Meyers of Central avenue, have been entertaining for the past few days, Mrs. Jacob Bernhardt of Shelton, Neb.

Jesse Bright and two children of Los Angeles, are passing some time with Mrs. Bright's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bright, sr., of Central avenue.

B. F. Burlingham, formerly identified with the Tropico Berry Growers' association, has accepted a position with the berry growers of Strawberry Park.

Mrs. D. M. Stuart, wife of Rev. Stuart, former pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian church, is passing some time with Mrs. Samuel Ayers of Central avenue.

Edward Meyer has disposed of his interest in the Tropico barber shop on the San Fernando road near Tropico avenue, and has embarked in the real estate business.

O. B. Spear and C. C. Chandler have formed a partnership and will continue operations in the planing mill and shop which were vacated recently by the Tropico Manufacturing company.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pollock and daughters, who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carmack, have returned to their home in Indiana. Mr. Carmack is a sister to Mrs. Pollock.

The city officers are being fitted up in the Tropico Bank building. In this same room will be the following business establishments: The Tropico Ice Company, Tropico Sentinel, Sunset Nursery Company and Shuey Paint Company.

George Valdez and family of Los Angeles, have moved into the home at the corner of Tropico avenue and Brand boulevard. A modern home is being erected for them at the corner of Alberta and Gardena streets in the Richardson tract.

The annual congregation meeting of the members of the Presbyterian church of this place was held Wednesday evening, at which trustees for the coming year, and other business was transacted. Preceding the meeting the ladies of the Aid Society served supper to the adult members of the congregation.

An entertainment will be given in the near future by the Tropico Chamber of Commerce, which will be in the nature of a get-together affair, and the sole purpose of the event will be to bring the opposing factions of the town into harmony. The men who were appointed to look after the affair were C. A. Bancroft, H. C. Robinson, George H. Friedgen, F. R. Jones and C. H. Cushing.

The people of the valley were grieved to hear of the severe accident which happened to Miss Cora Hickman of this place, formerly correspondent to the GLENDALE NEWS, and writer for the Los Angeles Times, and R. Z. Imler of Glendale, at Imperial recently. Several reports as to the extent of injuries received, but it is known that they were of a nature which confined the unfortunate ones to their home since that time.

The Tropico residents are encouraged at the manner in which the good roads work is progressing at this place. The twelve foot strip of rock work in the center of the road has been completed from the San Fernando road to a point about fifty yards south of Park avenue. The sides of the road along this stretch are now being oiled and watered and will be completed in about a week. Work of the crew is now being centered on the short stretch of Tropico avenue between Central avenue and San Fernando road. In not longer than two weeks this will be completed; then the work from the northern finished point to Sixth street will be rushed.

A warrant was sworn out Wednesday morning before Justice Melrose for the arrest of O. C. Lane of Burbank, the charge being disorderly conduct. It appears that J. J. Brash, who purchased five acres of land from Lane some time ago was showing a friend his (Brash's) bees and hives when Mr. Lane came out and ordered the friend off the premises. The friend refused to be blown about by every wind and as a result Mr. Lane hurried back to the house and returned with a shot gun. He wanted to see whether this obstinate man could be blown about some with a shot gun. Mr. Lane was accompanied by his wife, who finally succeeded in getting the gun away from him, and the result was that the enraged man shot nothing more dangerous than hot air.

TROPICO METHODIST CHURCH.

The revival services are still continuing under the leadership of Evangelist H. B. Ireland. All who have heard him have greatly enjoyed his stirring, soul uplifting sermons. He is spiritual, intensely in earnest and greatly in love with the souls of men. He is a power both in sermon and song. Don't miss hearing him before the meetings close. Services each evening except Saturday, at 7:30 p. m.

Sunday promises to be a great day in the Tropico Methodist church. At 11 a. m., Rev. Ireland will preach and a membership service will be held. In the evening there will be a general rally and mass meeting.

The music will be made a special feature of these services. Mrs. Ireland will play the melophone at each service.

CONDITION OF ACCIDENT VICTIMS

Mr. R. Z. Imler who was injured in Imperial Valley a week ago at the same time that Miss Cora Hickman had such a narrow escape through a runaway accident when both were thrown from a buggy, the latter going over the side of a bridge into a quicksand, arrived home Tuesday evening, but is confined to bed with his injuries. Miss Hickman remains at Imperial and has not been confined to bed, although she is suffering from a broken rib and a severe contusion on the forehead where struck by a bridge timber; her escape was almost miraculous as she is reported to have been thrown a distance of twenty feet and escaped from the quicksand with difficulty. Mr. Imler was more seriously injured, but is in a fair way for recovery.

A MODERN HOME FOR TROPICO.

A pretty little modern home is being erected on Palmer avenue near Central by John L. Kirkham, contractor and builder. Several parties have been attracted by the many features and it is probable that it will be disposed of soon.

There is a combined living and dining room, finished in flemish oak, the walls tinted in brown and the ceiling in cream. The two bedrooms, 11x11 feet, are on the west side of the house. The woodwork will be in white enamel, the walls of the front room in robin's egg blue with cream ceiling, and the rear room in pink with cream ceiling. Between the two rooms is the bathroom, finished in white enamel with modern fixtures, the walls and ceiling to be in light blue. The kitchen is in natural finish enameled wainscoating, and cream tinting.

The exterior will be stained in brown with green roof. The porch has cobblestone pillars and cement steps. The trimmings will be in white. The contract price is $1200.

WEST GLENDALE

Mrs. Frank Patch is spending some time with relatives in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Papineau entertained friends at their home on Ivy street Sunday last.

Mrs. Harry Wolfe entertained a number of relatives and friends at her home on Ivy street the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Taylor and Mrs. Dora Gibson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Elliott on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meenley and little daughter, Elizabeth, of Long Beach, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rose Boyd on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hartshorn and son of Farmington, Mo., were the guests of their cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clay, 1517 Ivy street, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayers of Hawthorne street left on Saturday last for the East, Iowa, the home of Mrs. Ayers parents, being their destination. Mrs. Ayers conducted a private kindergarten while here and made many friends all of whom were more than sorry to see her leave.

Once again we can say that it certainly pays to advertise in the NEWS. On Wednesday the 22nd, a certain lady advertised a cockerel spaniel puppy as lost. On Thursday the NEWS was in the postoffice, and on Friday about noon the purp was in the arms of his mistress. What quicker returns could any one wish for?

Have you received one of those cute little sock invitations, that the Epworth League distributed among their friends? If you haven't received one you will be welcome just the same to the social that is to be given at the West Glendale M. E. church this (Friday) evening. But be sure if you do come, take the number of your sock, multiply it by two and bring the answer in good hard cash (if you are from Chicago all the better) or you can't have any of the good refreshments that are to be served. Children half price.

The funeral services of the late Mr. J. C. Stark, of Hawthorne and Pacific avenue were held at Pulliam's Undertaking Parlors on Friday last. A large gathering of friends paid their final tribute of respect and many handsome floral offerings were in evidence. Through the kindness of the members of the West Glendale M. E. church beautiful music was furnished. Interment took place in Forest Lawn cemetery. Mr. Stark died very suddenly while at work for Mr. Daniel Kelty, on Wednesday last, who has charge of the masonry work on the new home of Mr. Chase of The Press, heart trouble being the cause. Telegrams were sent to the children of the deceased, who are living in the East, but they were unable to reach here in time for the funeral. One son has since arrived in Glendale, and is with his mother at the present time, and one daughter is expected later.

WEST GLENDALE SCHOOL NOTES.

Don't forget the election of school trustees April 7th, at the school building. Every one turn out.

Easter vacation begins April 10th and for two weeks the children will enjoy themselves to the limit, and the poor tired teachers are supposed to do likewise.

A hard-times social will be given by the eighth grade tomorrow (Saturday) evening at the home of Mrs. F. G. Taylor on West First street—more about it next week.

During the vacation the girls' basket ball team will hold a picnic at Verdugo Park and a very enjoyable time is looked forward to.

Five more new scholars enrolled on the register on Monday morning. Watch us grow.
